who?

Entries should come from students enrolled in Rutland County schools (homeschoolers with Rutland County addresses are also encouraged to submit essays).

what?

Write a 700-800 word essay that identifies a local, regional, national or international problem or conflict that needs a creative but viable solution and then propose a solution to that problem.

Topics can include pandemic or violence prevention, poverty and inequality, planetary crises, etc.

Winning essays receive the following:

1st place - $500 | 2nd place - $250 | 3rd place - $100

Essays will be judged on clarity and coherence, problem definition, and solution feasibility and scalability.

where?

Submit entries to entry@rutlandwrites.org.

when?

Submit your essay by October 1, 2021. Winners announced and published online at RutlandWrites.org on December 1, 2021.

why?

We need new solutions to persistent societal problems. That's why we need your bold new ideas. This is an opportunity to practice your communication skills while pitching your creative solutions. We encourage you to submit something!
